TEMS OF INTEREST

Waistlands are wider, and are fastened in front with backles of oxidates driver, burnaked silver, or dead gold, but very plain in style. For summer blouses muslins are delightful, in legotted or plain white over manye, pink, or blue, the ining colour deplicated in the plain hem of side miles collars.

Gold and silver braids are used to adora a number of pretty bodiess and costomes; they are placed on the lightest of tissues, as well as on the dress malerial, the marrow ones being rull on to chiffon or hee.

Fat evolving, black silk enayats are chiefly worn.
They are tied in a sailor's knot or butterfly bow at the throat. Cyclistic blosses have for sele
